

Kri no. 21/99

REPORT

on an on-site investigation compiled in Podujevo on 30 March 1999. Upon notification by the Podujevo OUP /?Department of the Interior/ and at the request of the Prokuplje OJT /District Public Prosecutor/, I conducted an on-sited investigation together with Radisav JANKOVIĆ, forensic technician, and Milan ANASTASIJEVIĆ, operative of the Podujevo OUP.

Commenced at 1100 hours.

A male body was found at the Drina café, owned by BEĆIRI /BEQIRI/, Rahmana Morine Street 15, Podujevo. The body – aged about 65 – was lying prone on the left side, arms bent under it, clothed in a grey fur coat and black trousers. There was a pool of blood underneath the body and boots on the feet. The head was turned in the direction of the bar, touching it. There was another male body three metres away from the bar, the head turned towards a wall. It was one metre away from the first body, lying supine, right arm laid across the stomach, clothed in a brown fur coat, blue trousers, shoes, the right side of the head torn apart. In a pocket on the second body, there was an identity card in the name of Seljman GAŠI /Selman GASHI/, son of Murat, born 26 June 1931 in the village of Dobri Dol, Podujevo municipality.

He resided at Maršala Tita Street 267 in Podujevo. The café windows were broken and splattered with blood.

A female body was found /?behind an outside wall/ in the yard to the right of the entrance door of a single-storey house in Rahmana Morine Street 7. The body was lying supine, the right arm /?separated from/ the body and the left arm bent at the elbow. It was clothed in a black blouse and a red checkered coat. The right leg was torn apart, only bones remained. About 20 centimetres further away, the body of a child of seven years of age was found. It was clothed in a multicoloured shirt, green corduroy trousers and boots. To the right of this body, the body of another child of ten years of age was found. It was clothed in a red shirt and blue jeans. Its head was under the body of the female dressed in a checkered coat. The woman's left arm was laid on the child. Next to this woman, there was the body of a blond female, lying on the left side and clothed in a red coat. To the right, next to the house wall, there was the body of a female holding a small child in her arms. The child – dark-haired and clothed in green jeans – was lying prone. Next to this child, there was another child, lying prone and clothed in a green T-shirt. Underneath this child, there was the body of another child, only his head could be seen. Next to him, there was the body of another child, lying prone and clothed in a blue anorak. In this spot, there was the body of another female. Twenty metres away from this spot in the yard of the house, there was the body of a female clothed in a black coat, black boots and green trousers. In this spot, there were several bullet casings next to the house.

/handwritten in the right-hand margin: Who?/

As soon as you passed through the entrance gate at Ivana Kosančića Street 270 in Podujevo, there was a body lying supine with a crushed head. It was clothed in a blue jacket, black trousers, olive-drab socks, black shoes, a white shirt and a white cap – keče – lying next to him. Its head was turned towards a wall. Twenty centimetres to the right of the body, there were pistol casings. Next to the body, there was blood and some tracks similar to dog tracks.

A male body was found lying on a staircase immediately next to the entrance door of a two-storey house in Ivana Kosančiča Street in Podujevo. The male – of an advanced age – had his legs bent, a cap on his head and a scarf; he was clothed in a long black coat and a short grey coat.
